Today was the perfect time to round up some preschool math ideas using toy vehicles. 1 "Ordinal Numbers" Car Race. First we turned a wooden puzzle upside down and rested it on a plastic storage bin. My boys had fun letting the cars go. Then my Four assigned each car to its proper finishing place. I showed him the trophies, helped him identify "1st, 2nd, 3rd" and also showed him the words for each ordinal number. After we finished racing I had him practice assigning a car to the correct trophy by telling him what place it had finished.
